For almost a century the Middlebrook Bridge have served the Woolwich and Centre Wellington communities as an in many ways important river crossing especially for the lokal farmers .In recent years it has been and is a bridge that gives access to a much loved area of the Grand River.The trails on both river bank's give close contact with the water and the calming beauty of the nature.

This bridge with its historical and cultural values is an indispensable part of all this and it is very shortsighted to demolish it.

The extra 35000 it would cost to convert it to a non vehicle bridge is well spent money for the recent and coming generations .

An action plan to save bridge could include a well published public meeting including both communities and representatives for the Six Nations and the Mennonite communities but the first step could be to ask for a moratorium until this decision has been thoroughly and democratically looked into.

Humbly yours
